- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

The amendment received 13 March 2007 has been made of record. Claims 1-4, 6-9 and 11 are pending.

Upon further consideration the indicated allowability of claims 4, 6-9 and 11 contained in the previous office action is withdrawn.

Prosecution on the merits is hereby reopened.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 7 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The claimed ranges of viscosity are not supported in the specification as originally filed.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 2 recites the limitation "liquid" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claims 4, 7 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 4 recites an extinction coefficient that increases with polar group concentration. The claim fails to make clear that the polar group in question belongs to the resin admixed with the colorant.

Each of claims 7 and 11 recite viscosity values without specifying the conditions under which the measurement was made.

Claims 4, 6, 7, 9 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by EP '288.

EP '288 discloses methods for producing colorant dispersions. These methods include treating the colorant with an ion exchange process before admixture with a carboxyl group-containing polymer (abstract, paragraphs 33 and 39 and claim 8). The polymers disclosed by the reference are seen as inherently meeting applicants' limitation to carboxyl group concentration. The compositions of the reference are seen as inherently meeting applicants' viscosity limitations since no measurement conditions are specified. The limitation to heating residue of the colorant is seen as obtaining before mixture and is not seen as limiting the composition comprising colorant and resin binder. Applicants discussion at paragraph 18 of the pre-grant publication of the instant application makes clear that the property of increasing extinction coefficient with increasing polar group concentration is independent of any differences in method steps that may exist between the compositions of the application and those of the reference and, therefore, this behavior of the extinction coefficient would be expected to be inherent to the compositions of the reference.

Art Unit: 1714

Claim 8 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 1 and 3 are allowed.
